For a long time, Islam has been the majority religion in Dhaka, with only 1300 mosques, but more mosques were recently built, and the district is now called the City of Mosques. Islamic festivals of Eid ul-Fitr, Eid ul-Adha, Eid-E-Miladunnabi and Muharram; Hindu festival of Durga Puja, Buddhist festival of Buddha Purnima; and Christian festival of Christmas witness widespread celebrations across the city.

Culture:

As the most populous city of Bangladesh, Dhaka has a vibrant cultural life. Annual celebrations for Independence Day (26 March), Language Martyrs Day (21 February) and Victory Day (16 December) are prominently celebrated across the city. Dhaka's people congregate at the Shaheed Minar and the Jatiyo Smriti Soudho to remember the national heroes of the liberation war. Pohela Baishakh, the Bengali New Year, falls annually on 14 April and is popularly celebrated across the city. Pahela Falgun (Bengali: পহেলা ফাল্গুন, first day of Spring of Bengali month Falgun, of the Bengali calendar, also celebrated in the city in a festive manner. This day is marked with colourful celebration and traditionally, women wear yellow saris to celebrate this day. This celebration is also known as Basanta Utsab (Bengali: বসন্ত উৎসব; Spring Festival). Nabanna is a celebration for harvest, usually celebrated with food and dance and music on the 1st day of the month of Agrahayan of Bengali year. Birthdays of Rabindranath Tagore and Kazi Nazrul Islam are observed respectively as Rabindra Jayanti and Nazrul Jayanti. Ekushey Book Fair, which is arranged each year by Bangla Academy and takes place for the whole month of February. This event is dedicated to the martyrs who died on 21 February 1952 in a demonstration calling for the establishment of Bengali as one of the state languages of former East Pakistan. Shakrain Festival (Bengali: শাকরাইন) is an annual celebration observed with the flying of kites. It usually observed in old part of the city at the end of Poush, the ninth month of the Bengali calendar (14 January or 15 in Gregorian calendar).

The most popular dressing style for women are sarees or salwar kameez, while men usually prefer western clothing to the traditional lungi with Panjabi. Jamdani saree of Dhaka is part of its cultural heritage, originate from the Mughal era. Jamdani sarees are 100% hand weaved and a single saree may take as long as 3 months to complete.

Despite the growing popularity of music groups and rock bands, traditional folk music remains widely popular. The works of the national poet Kazi Nazrul Islam and national anthem writer Rabindranath Tagore have a widespread following across Dhaka.

Education:

The main education system is divided into three levels:

- Primary Level (Class 1–8)
- Secondary Level (9-12) There is no middle school system in Bangladesh.
- Tertiary Level

At all levels of schooling, students can choose to receive their education in English or Bangla. Private schools tend to make use of English-based study media while government-sponsored schools use Bangla.

d. Migration-related profile

From 2005 to 2019, the total people migrated from Dhaka is 3 lakh 97 thousand 258. Among of them 28 thousand 51 persons migrated in 2019. On 2020 (up to May) 6 thousand 6 hundred and 12 persons migrated from Dhaka district. In Dhaka division there are 3 Technical training centres available for migrants to provide language and skill, Housekeeping training and pre-departure training. These are- Bangladesh German TTC in Mirpur, Bangladesh Korea TTC in Mirpur, Sheikh Fazilatunnesa Mujib Mohila TTC in Dhaka. Before November 2016, biometric fingerprint for migrants only available in DEMO Dhaka. But now it is decentralized and available in 42 DEMOS. Smart card is a mandatory process for migration from Bangladesh. This smart card introduced in 2010 at DEMO Dhaka but now, it will be available in 6 more DEMOS. DEMO Dhaka is responsible authority for all this district alone. People need to travel in Dhaka for registration, finger tumbling and collection of smart cards in Dhaka DEMO office, which is time consuming, expensive and sometimes create hassle for migrants especially female migrants.

In Dhaka, internal migration, like Rural-Urban Migration, involves the movement of people from rural areas or country sides to urban areas of the same country in search of new opportunities and lifestyles. Dhaka is the top most populated district as enumerated in 2011. The population of Dhaka division increased around one million per decade before 1961 census, but after 1961 census, Dhaka division's population increased at a rate around six million per decades. Around 7.62% of the total population of Bangladesh is born in Barisal, out of which 3.24 percent migrated to other divisions (largest 1.62% in Dhaka and out-migration of Dhaka division is 9.0% and 16.42% is in migration. In Chittagong, Dhaka and Sylhet division in-migration is more than out-migration results rapid population growth. (Source: Bangladesh population census and housing census 2011)

As expected, Dhaka division, being the capital city, seems to be the more favorite area and has become migration destination area in the country. For instance, 34.13% of Rangpur and 26.71% of Chittagong divisions migrated to Dhaka followed by Khulna 23.87%, Rajshahi 22.78% and Barisal 21.20%. Only Sylhet division seems to have a small proportion of their citizens residing in Dhaka division. The migration to Dhaka division is not a strange phenomenon because the concentration of economic and political institutions in Dhaka attracted migrants from other regions. It is interesting to note that people born in Sylhet division are less likely to migrate compared to others. Out migration of Dhaka division is 7.30% and 22.17% is in migration (Source: Bangladesh population census and housing census 2011.)

Migration is selective based on sex, age and other social and economic characteristics. This section examines sex differentials in the migratory process of Bangladesh in 2011. In the past when males dominated the livelihoods of the households, the male adult considered as head of the household moved first; and then followed by the wife and children, and other ageing members of the family.

Most of the migrants live in Dhaka division, 52.8% in 2004 and 38.7% in 2011. In Dhaka division for rural migrants 30.9% in 2004 and 41% in 2011 and for urban migrants 59% in 2004 and 36.4% in 2011.

Dhaka and Gazipur are the most popular districts for internal migration. This is not unusual. Being the capital of the country, Dhaka has the topmost scope of education and business accompanying all other urban facilities. More importantly, people usually want to, and sometimes must, live in Dhaka for job searching and for their current employment as well. After Dhaka, people mostly prefer to migrate to districts nearby Dhaka like Gazipur and then Narayanganj. This is possibly their inability of staying in Dhaka but to keep close.

In 2011, most of the migration from rural to rural took place in Dhaka, Gazipur and Narayanganj districts. Lifetime urban to rural maximum migration took place in Gazipur and Narayanganj districts.

Internal Migration and Human Capital

Selectivity of migration varies according to education of the migrants, too. Migration may have both negative and positive effect on education. For many families, migration was needed for higher and better education, especially for their children. For many others, disruptions, including education disruptions accompanying migration may have significant negative impacts on migrants and their family members. Availability of job opportunities at the place of destination, whatsoever be the quality, play a very important role regarding the process of migration decision. In 2011, only 13% of the migrants are attending school of that 1.7% and 0.4% are graduates and master's student, respectively

e. Special feature of the district (including special holidays or cultural events)

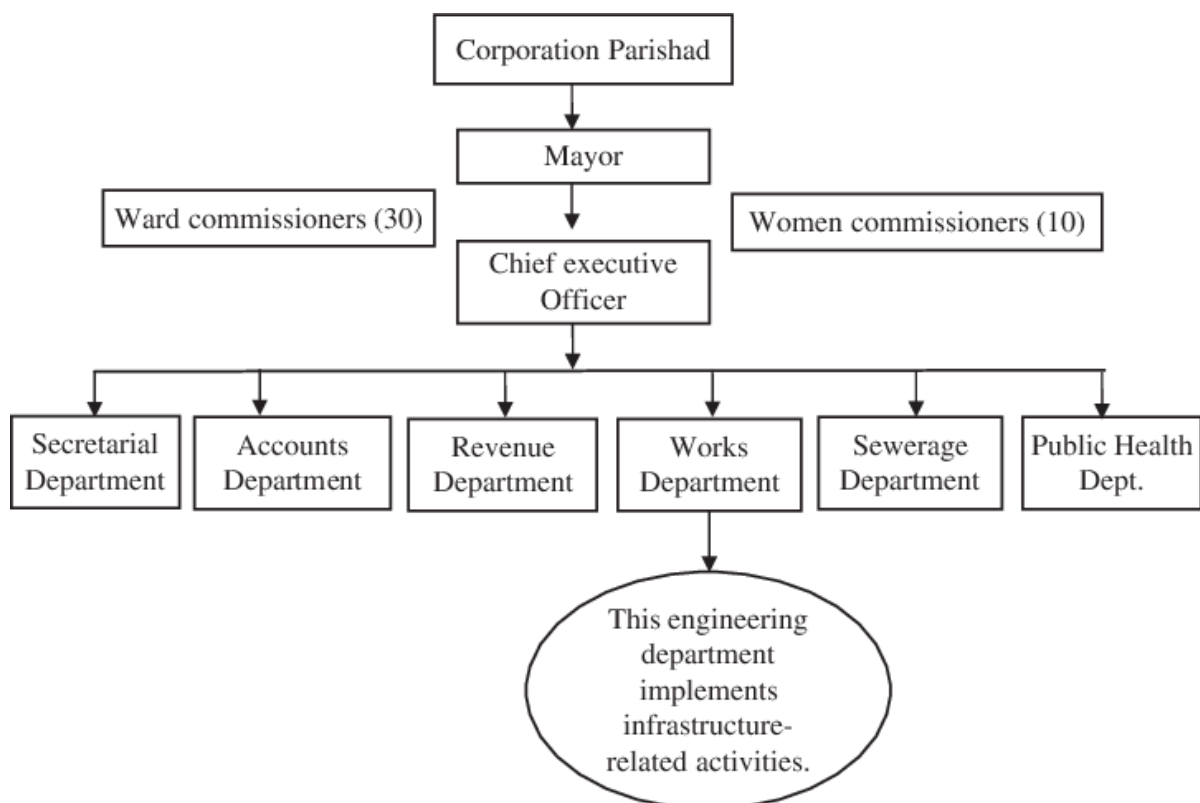

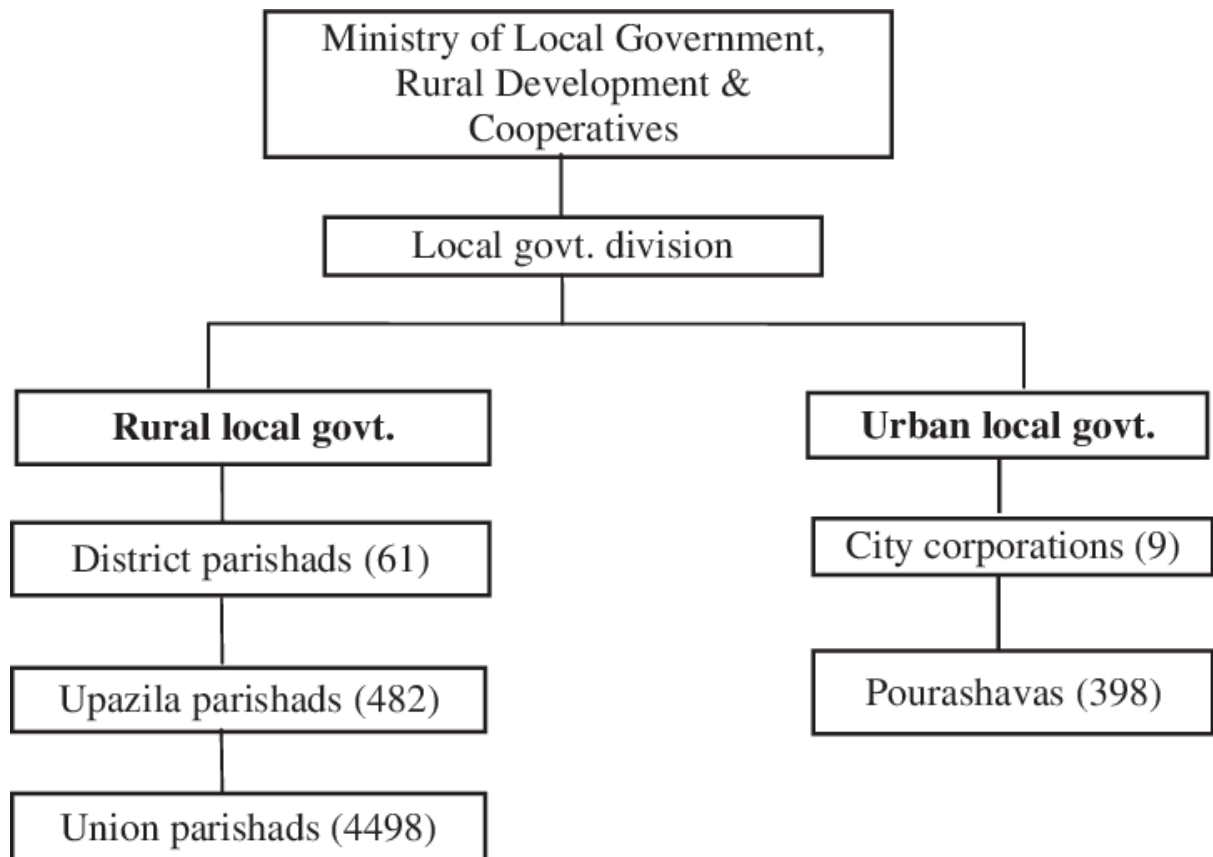

In Dhaka, Ekushey Book Fair, which is arranged each year by Bangla Academy and takes place for the whole month of February. This event is dedicated to the martyrs who died on 21 February 1952 in a demonstration calling for the establishment of Bengali as one of the state languages of former East Pakistan. Shakrain Festival (Bengali: সাকরাইন) is an annual celebration observed with the flying of kites. It usually observed in old part of the city at the end of Poush, the ninth month of the Bengali calendar (14 January or 15 in Gregorian calendar).

3. Potential MRC activities in the district (proposed activities should correspond to the actual context and situation of the district)

The following are potential activities:

- a. Every month, one Migration Information fair can be organized in TTC for the students who can be potential migrants.
- b. One migration information session can be conducted in Union Parishad in every quarter.
- c. Experience sharing session can be arranged in market place or open place where returnee can share their experiences and potentials can learn from them.
- d. Migration legal camp can be organized inside TTC or in DEMO or in Union Parishad once in a month where people can get legal advices.
- e. Through school meeting, information can be provided in community and also develop paralegals who are school going students through their capacity building in migration.
- f. Popular theatre in crowded place through awareness messages.
- g. Information dissemination through projector show by developing animated video on migration.
- h. Develop migration complaint box in every union parishad.
- i. Organize mega events like seminar, international conference on migration, workshops to engage more people with MRC's.
- j. Can develop partnership with mobile company's customer cares where migrants usually visit and disseminate information through them.
- k. MRC booth inside Airport along with Probashi Kallayan desk where migrants get basic migration information.
- l. Partnerships with national legal aid organization to promote MRC and referred court cases to them.
- m. Capacity building of chairman, members of Union parishad about alternative dispute resolution in migration.
- n. Capacity building of demo staffs, WEWB staffs and Kallayan desk staffs about migration information and communication with migrants.
- o. Capacity building of Government officials about gender responsive behaviour of migrants.
